When a Man Falls in Love He Is in a State of Physical Disturbance, According to a Learned Physician.

Science is making itself obnoxious. As if it were not enough to discover to a germ-fearing world that there are microbes in kisses, it now declares that love is itself a disease. It adds, moreover, that the lover, whom all mankind has held in tender esteem, is a being almost as unsound and out of health, in body and mind, as a person with paresis. Love may be caught, like measles or pneumonia, by exposure to certain influences when the system is run down or exhausted. With all the gravity that medical language can throw around a simple statement, science describes love as a fever, a malady of the human tissues, with well-recognized symptoms and often mortal results, and may be treated from the materia medica like any other illness.

This discovery means cruelty to many individual feminine hopes. Man is not often in a condition to fall in love; he is too healthily during the greater part of his life. So, instead of expecting that any male person who comes her way may be struck with desire for her, a girl hereafter will know that only men who happen to see her first when they are in a rare, peculiar state are likely to take the fever. How much that reduces a girl's chances of marriage may be imagined when, under the old supposition that every man was a possible husband, a girl could not count on more than one chance in 3,000.

But about the new discovery. When Mrs. Reis drowned herself in the Park reservoir Dr. Nagle, the eminent student of causes of suicide, told a Press reporter that love is a morbid state—a state of sickness. This theory has been accepted by many physicians since a scholarly Frenchman, Dr. Janet, published "L'Automatisme Psychique" a few weeks ago. It is a theory easily justified from what medicine has learned in the last ten years through discoveries in bacteriology and physiological chemistry. Dr. Van Gieson, chief of the new pathological institute of the New York state lunacy commission, is conducting that great laboratory on the belief that disease in general is due to toxic, or poisonous, secretions in the body. He and his staff are studying dementia particularly. They are analyzing the secretions of several insane patients in the hope of isolating an organic poison which is supposed to be at the bottom of the difficulty.

Dr. Janet asserts in his new treatise that "We can only fall in love at special moments, when we are in a peculiar condition. When a man is fit and well, morally and physically, he can expose himself to the most inflammatory circumstances, but he won't fall in love. But if he is fatigued or intellectually overworked or upset by grief or trouble, played out, sad, absent-minded, nervous, below par, he will fall in love on the most paltry provocation. A face, a gesture, a word, takes him and is the germ of a long, amorous complaint."

"First," continues Dr. Janet, "there is, as in all virulent maladies, a period of incubation. The new idea fits vaguely through the dreams of enfeebled consciousness, then seems to depart; but it has done its work and provoked actions whose origin is not in the personal consciousness." These actions generally are sufficient to give ground for a breach of promise suit if not adhered to. In support of the suggestion that love comes like a disease, Dr. Janet cites this:

"What is the amazement of a man of intelligence when he comes pitifully to himself under the window of his lady, whether his wandering steps unconsciously have led him? What is the surprise of a clever man, when, in the midst of work he hears his lips ceaselessly murmur a name, always the same name?" He holds, in short, that we are automatic when we are in love, and are out of our own control, as though we were highly intoxicated, or had delirium, or some fever.

"Such," goes on Dr. Janet, "is real passion, not as idealized in fantastic descriptions, but as reduced to its essential psychological symptoms? Novelists have deceived us about love. So for the most part have poets, though some have come near to forestalling science. 'Love is like a dizziness,' says one, and another observes: 'Who loves, raves—'tis youth's frenzy.' Historians give strong evidence in favor of the new theory. They relate that although Alexander was fit and well (his father wanted to enter him in the Olympic games), he despised women. Prince Charles, according to Lord Elcho, 'had a body made for war,' but women invariably bored him.

Everybody knows that love is epidemic in spring. It comes just as inevitably as that tired feeling—in fact, that tired, played-out feeling seems to be the promotive cause. One's blood is at its worst then; one's entire system is at a low ebb; melancholia and malaria are more prevalent, and suicides, from discouraged love or mental depression, due to physical illness, become numerous. But in summer the health improves. Is that why seaside flirtations are seldom serious wooing? Yes, if one accepts the new theory that love is a morbid condition, due to a microbe or a damaged nerve cell.—N. Y. Times

POISONING THE FOUNTAIN.

If the fountain of life is its very source, no health in the body. When a woman has any weakness of special organ, sex, the fountain of life is poisoned and she cannot be healthy until this one fatal trouble is cured.

The family physician may make the very common error of ascribing all the trouble to superficial causes; he may prescribe for neuralgia, indigestion, insomnia, or headache, when these are merely symptoms of some deep-rooted malady of the distinctly feminine organs.

Any woman suffering from these delicate complaints may be completely cured right in the privacy of her own home (without recourse to mortifying examinations and "local treatment") by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

It gives health to the special organism of womanhood. It purifies all diseased conditions; gives elastic strength to the ligaments, and vitality to the nerve-centres. It promotes good digestion, sound sleep, and freedom from pain.

It is the only medicine devised for this one purpose by an educated, skilled specialist in this particular field of practice. It is the only medicine which insures prospective mothers against the dangers and sufferings of motherhood.

Dr. Pierce's thousand-page illustrated book, "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," contains several chapters devoted to the special physiology of woman, with advice and suggestions for self-treatment which every woman ought to read. A paper-bound copy sent absolutely free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay for mailing only, or, cloth-bound, 31 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

WHEAT AND SILVER.

Statistics show that for many years, in fact, ever since silver was demonet-ized, the price of an ounce of silver and of a bushel of wheat, kept very close company. Within the last year, in consequence of the failure of crops in several of the United States, this has occurred at a time when the price of silver was rising, and combined effort of the gold men, is declining, the organs of the gold trust direct attention to the fact and endeavor to prove by it, that the market price of silver has declined to do with the price of wheat. The San Francisco Bulletin, which of late has been the most radical of gold sheets, exultingly proclaims that silver and wheat have parted company, wholly disproving the contention of the silver men that "the price of silver controls the price of wheat." It is well known that in consequence of prolonged and unusual droughts in India and the Argentine Republic, there has been a failure of the wheat crop in both countries. This in combination with short crops in Europe has caused the price of wheat to advance in the United States. This abnormal condition does not disprove the fact that under ordinary conditions the price of a bushel of wheat and of an ounce of silver are about the same.

At present a combined effort is being made by the gold men in Europe and the United States to depress the price of silver bullion. The mints are closed against its coinage on private account.
There is no demand for it in the United States and what silver we produce in this country has to be marketed in Europe at whatever price European dealers are disposed to pay. By pre-arrangement, probably, very little of the metal is being coined anywhere at present, and as a natural consequence, it is not in demand. If gold was discriminated against as silver is, and has been for a number of years, it is doubtful if it would be worth as much as silver is now and there certainly would not be such a rush to Klondyke.

Good crops in India and the Argentine Republic will reduce the price of wheat to about the price of an ounce of silver, because ordinarily a bushel of wheat can be bought for an ounce of silver in those countries, but if the mints were open to silver the rule would doubtless hold good and a bushel of wheat would bring about a dollar and a quarter whether crops failed in India or the Argentine Republic or not.

CANADA JEALOUS.

A short while ago the Canadian parliament passed an act by which mining by proxy, or as it is commonly called, grubstaking, is entirely prohibited to all foreigners in British American territory. It is made a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of $1,000 for any person or corporation to make a contract with an alien to perform work in Canada, before such alien shall have emigrated into or become a citizen of Canada. By this act it is illegal not only to make a contract with, but even to help or in any way to assist such contracting alien to enter the country. In this way not only are the parties to the contract made amenable to the law, but ship captains and other common carriers are likewise placed in jeopardy for following out their legiti-mate business. The only light in which this recent legislative enactment can be viewed is one of direct hostility to the United States. What Canada means by taking such a decided attitude is hard to realize for there can be no doubt that the law was passed for our especial disadvantage. There is one satisfaction, however, to all prospectors who are bursted and whose only chance to reach the Klondyke is to be grubstaked, and that is this:
Canada may pass as many preventative laws as she pleases, but who is to prove that a man has been grubstaked but the prospector himself and his principal, and if the latter is without the jurisdiction of the Dominion parliament and the former knows that his residence in the country is conditioned by his silence, it will be next to impossible to prove an infraction of the law.
Besides there are innumerable ways in which this act can be circumvented and rendered of little efficacy. The only thing it is calculated to result in is hard feeling. Thus far our relations with the United Dominion has always been amicable and friendly and it is to be regretted if the avaricious and covetous spirit, to say nothing of the inordinate cupidity and greed, which has always characterized the dealings of England with other nations in times past, has become such a part and porcel of British foreign policy that her colonies are so contaminated and besmirched by its influence as to disrupt their relations with friendly and well-wishing neighbors.

HAWAII may soon be ours. The President has appointed Harold M. Sewall the U. S. Minister to Hawaii with practically unlimited discretionary powers.
It has been rumored that he has been instructed to raise the Stars and Stripes over the islands. The least that can be expected is a protectorate. At any rate something is to be done and the public will soon be able to express its condemnation or approval of the attitude taken by the new administration.

The shooting occurred Thursday evening in the mountains near Madera, Cal., between Lewis A. Wofford and Patsy Beardon, both young men. The row occurred over a cattle dispute and Wofford was killed.

A gold bar valued at $30,000 from the Red River mine, near Atchison, Los Angeles county, was brought into the city yesterday. Stephen M. White and Hon. Henry T. Gage are the owners of the mine.

A shooting affray occurred Thursday evening in the mountains near Madera, Cal., between Lewis A. Wofford and Patsy Beardon, both young men. The row occurred over a cattle dispute and Wofford was killed.

Geo. Turner of Spring Hill, Ala., a negro who entered the bedroom of the daughter of his employer and attempted to assault her, but was frightened away, was taken before daylight yesterday morning and hanged.

The House of Commons met at London yesterday at 10 o'clock and passed the third reading of the appropriation bill and forwarded it to the House of Lords. At 2:30 the Queen's speech prolonging Parliament was read in both Houses.

A fire in the Gem Saloon at Battle Mountain, this State, which broke out at 3 o'clock yesterday morning destroyed the Nevada Hotel, Gem Saloon, Postoffice and several other business places. The loss is estimated at $12,000 partly insured.

Joseph Gray, who was a few years ago one of the best known of the Truckee lumber mill owners, died at Sacramento yesterday of heart disease.
He built the first frame house at Truckee. He was a native of England and 71 years of age.

A lynching was averted by the appeals of leading citizens at Crystal Falls on Thursday night. Dons, a man charged with committing an assault on a young girl who identified him, was about to be lynched by the miners.
Threats are still being made and he may yet be lynched.

The strike is again on with the operatives of the Fulton Bag and Cotton Mills at Atlanta, Georgia. An agreement had been arranged, but the President declined to sign it when it was presented. The strike is on account of the employment of negroes in certain departments of the mills.

The preliminary examination of Theodore A. Fiegel upon the charge of murder for killing his employer began before Judge Campbell in San Francisco yesterday. The premises were visited by the Court where the tragedy occurred in order to be familiar with the location and various places to be referred to in the testimony.

Eugene V. Debs addressed the miners' meeting at Duquesne wharf, Pittsburg, on Thursday evening. He bitterly denounced Judge Jackson of West Virginia for issuing the injunction restraining him from interfering in any way with the Monongah Company or its employees. He claims that the injunction restrains him from walking on any of the streets leading to the mines of the Monongah Coal Company and is most sweeping and none other can be compared to it.

This injunction annihilates the rights of peaceable assemblages and effectually suppresses free speech. It sweeps away all constitutional safeguards and delivers us bound hand and foot to corporate capital. I hold the injunction and the judge who issued it in supreme contempt. His speech was on this line from beginning to end, and referred to the men who were cajoled and forced to continue work in the mines, by working on their sympathies and referring to their suffering families. He claimed that the wives of the miners were taking a brave stand and entering into the fight with a will that was creditable. He believes that after the payday next Monday many miners will walk out and the strike will result in a victory.

Mrs. Richtenberger has reopened the Louvre on Commercial Row, with Joe Ziegler as manager. For a cool glass of beer or other Summer beverage there is no better place.

The Granite Saloon is a quiet and pleasant place of resort. Cool beer is a specialty. Choice wines are sold by the gallon or in quantities desired, also liquors of all kinds.

A photograph of Charles Lake, Pete Rasmussen and Will Perry, dressed in their Klondyke fur suits, attracted considerable attention in the Lake store window yesterday.

The Comstock is having an experience with burglars and footpads. It must be a local gang that is working the town, for Reno has not as yet been troubled with any of the "varmints" passing through.

A Nelson will sacrifice his stock of furnishing goods in order to make room for new goods. Now is the time to get bargains. Call at his store on Virginia street. Free employment office connected with the store.

Charley Gilson, who assisted in removing the wounded and dead Indians from the wreck the other day and subsequently assisted in the burial of the dead, and who was reported ill from blood poisoning is all right. His hand was injured from having a nail run into it.

Constant dipping of the pen into the ink while writing may be avoided by inserting two pens of the same size in the penholder, the inner one to project a little, the writing is done with the inner pen. The ink collecting between the two pens is sufficient to last through several pages of a manuscript, and yet it will not flow more freely than desirable. In order to get the best results the pens must be cleaned frequently.

Taken from the John Swett School building, the Board of Education on Saturday day evening royally vindicated Miss Julia A. Michelson. The lady had been a teacher in the John Swett Grammar School for several years, and had always been highly rated by Principal Lyser until his last report was made in which he, for some unknown reason, had marked her as "not satisfactory." Miss Michelson has always been regarded as one of the best teachers in the city. She is known and has been recognized by all of the members of the Board of Education. Directors Burlington, Regan and Gallagher took an special interest in giving to the public the standing of which Miss Michelson is entitled in the department, and to accoutre the principal of the Pacific Heights Grammar School, which under Miss Stinson's able management, is one of the best in the city. Every member of the Board voted for Miss Michelson's promotion, and expressed themselves as glad of the opportunity. Bulletin.

It will be remembered that the Journal mentioned several days ago that Principal Lyser had made a consummate nunny of himself, and perhaps by this time he has become convinced of the same.

How Gold Discoveries are Exaggerated. As an example of how gold excitement grows reports of strikes spread from the immediate district in which they have their beginning, the following on the late car-load of Olinghouse place, which was worked at the Reduction Works a few days ago will serve to give an idea of the possible exaggeration of the stories from the Klondyke.

A Salt Lake paper announces a dispatch from Reno regarding the shipment of the new-found riches, and says that one of the shippers offered to wager that he could take a shovelfull of dirt from any sack in the car and get $100.

What the man did say, was that he could produce 100 colors from a shovelfull of dirt; 100 hundred colors as far as value is concerned would be extremely indefinite. They might go ten or twenty-five cents to the pan but a safer estimate would be from two to five cents.

If distance is taken into consideration and a comparison made between this point and Salt Lake and from here to the Klondyke, as people may reasonably expect, in a few days to read in the New York papers, that in place of shoveling dirt into sacks at Olinghouse, the prospectors had struck a deposit of pure gold and are sacking it as one would sack sand.

Call for Your Souvenir. The Reno Drug Store will open its elegant drug store at the corner of Virginia and Second street to-day, and the management will be pleased to have everyone call and examine the appointments of the store, also the splendid stock.

Everyone who purchases 25 cents worth of goods will be presented with a souvenir, but whether a purchase is made or not all visitors may be assured of the most courteous treatment.

The painting, graining and glass work was done by the Porteous Decorating company and the work proves that this company have workmen in their employ that thoroughly understand their business. The walnut graining is true to nature and the painting generally is of the very best type. The plate glass was furnished and set by the company.

Taking the store as a whole it is one of the most elegantly finished and best stocked in the State and patrons may depend on the fairest of treatment from the managers.

The Remains Not Those of the Lost Lutgens. Mrs. Otto Lutgens of Gold Hill, who went to Auburn a few days ago to see whether she could identify the remains of a man that had been found near Rubicon Springs as those of her husband, who so mysteriously disappeared some three years ago, has returned, being unable to convince herself that the remains were those of Lutgens. In fact she is quite positive they are not from the fact that the man found had shoes on when he died, while Lutgens wore boots when he left home. She also says that the head of the remains is entirely a different shape from her husband's.

The St. Clair shooting. A letter was received at Virginia from Dr. Harris who was called to attend Ben Douglass at his ranch on the Carson river, saying that his patient was resting easy and in no danger. Dr. Gibson, who was also called, returned from there last evening. The shooting was in a measure accidental as reported, but was caused by a quarrel between Douglass and one of his hired men named Matthews. Douglass drew a pistol and Matthews attempted to wrest it from him and the pistol was discharged in the scuffle.

Knocked Down and Robbed. Charles Johnson a respected citizen of Virginia was attacked by footpads on C. Street of that city at a late hour Thursday night and was beaten into insensibility and robbed of $30. He was on his way to his lodgings and was entering his door. He did not recognize his assailants. He had drawn his month's pay for July in the evening and had been paying some bills and thinks that the robbers were men who had been watching him and probably knew that he had money and where he lodged and had waited for him.

Former Renos in Trouble.

Tom Anderson, better known as Tom McCormack formerly of Reno and well known in sporting circles, beat his wife at Grass Valley on Thursday night.

Mrs. Anderson defended herself with a pistol firing three shots, two of which took effect. One shot struck him in the left eye and a second shot struck him in the back of the head. He will lose an eye, but the other wound is not dangerous. Anderson who is a powerful man had beaten and abused his wife for several years, she being a slight woman. She will be remembered as Carrie McIntosh, by many Renos. Anderson was something of a pugilist while here and was sent to the State Prison for a year from this county. The woman has, from her girlhood been devoted to him and when nearly everyone else forsake him she was faithful.

Mr. McIntosh, her father, left for Grass Valley on yesterday morning's train.

A Peculiar Decision.

The Supreme Court of California on Thursday handed down a decision in a peculiar case which involved the liability of the wife to support her husband. Mary A. Livingston of Los Angeles is 70 years old and possesses considerable separate property, while her husband is much older and poor and unable to support himself. Suit was brought against Mrs. Livingston to force her to support or pay her husband an allowance. As a result the Superior Court ordered the wife to pay $24 per month for the maintenance of her aged husband. On the day the order was made the old lady deeded all her property to her daughter and refused to comply. She was immediately imprisoned for contempt until the amount should be paid. The Supreme Court affirmed the decision.

WOMEN GIVE VOTE TO PLACE DRY GOODS AND CARPET HOUSE.

More Centenarians Among Women.

There are more centenarians among women than among men, according to a report of the Baltimore Sun. One of the oldest women in the world, a Frenchwoman, is said to be 100 years old.

According to the Baltimore Sun, one of the oldest women in the world, a Frenchwoman, is said to be 100 years old.

Even been asserted that a woman who makes a man live longer, as shown by the fact that the average life of the married man is longer than that of the single man, is due to the fact, however, is denied by the statistician at the midlands, who says that the life of the married man is not really longer, but only seems so.

So far there is no satisfactory explanation of the fact that the average life of the married man is longer than that of the single man. It is because women are less addicted to tobacco and strong drink, others say that it is because it is more healthy to spend money than it is to earn it, and so on. It may be many of the men who would like to be 100 are killed in an early age by casualties to which women are not exposed. It may be that tight lacing is a life preserver, and it may be that, after all, possibly the English statistician-general may be mistaken. The situation is replete with possibilities.

FAR-SEEING FATHERS.

Planned the Capital at Washington for the Nation's Future.

Our great-grandfathers had some idea of the future grandeur of this country when they planned the great capital building at Washington, for, although its magnificent structure is one of the noblest public buildings in the world, there is reason to believe that its plan, in the main, was projected by Washington, and his contemporaries, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The old north wing was founded by Washington in 1793 and finished in 1800; the old south wing was founded in 1811 and very soon after completion both were burned by Ross and the British troops. Between 1817 and 1827 the edifice was rebuilt, and the new extensions, forming the present chamber of the house of representatives and of the senate, were begun in 1851. The house moving into its new quarters in 1857 and the senate not until 1859. The dome was erected between 1850 and 1855.

The length of the capital building, 1,771 feet and 4 inches; its breadth from 321 to 323 feet; it covers 133,117 square feet; from the base line to the top of the statue its height is 257 feet and 11 inches. It cost over $13,000,000.

MINED DURING HARD TIMES.

Total Value of Minerals Dug Out in This Country During 1896.

The annual supplement of the Engineering and Mining Journal shows that the total amount of the mineral and metal production of the United States in 1896 was $71,732,782, an increase over 1895 of $18,791,264.

In gold the total production was $66,637, or $11,830,437 more than in 1895. The production of silver was 50,222,422 fine ounces or 9,891,067 ounces more than the previous year.

The pig iron production was 8,023,127 long tons, a decrease of 821,801 tons. Coal production amounted to 187,373,477 tons, being 1,622,107 tons less than 1895.

The production of copper was the largest ever reported, being 407,828,973 pounds, or $1,350,000 pounds increase over 1895.

The production of lead was 174,702 tons; of spelter, 77,587 tons; of quicksilver, 835,480 flasks; of alum, 77,700 tons; of cement, 8,487,265 barrels, and of salt, 13,354,573 barrels.

The production of gold, silver, copper and pig iron is greater than that of any other country in the world, and that of coal is exceeded only by Great Britain.

ABOUT PROMINENT PEOPLE.

Gen. Cadorna, who commanded the Italian troops when they took possession of Rome in 1870, died recently at the age of 82 years.

Dr. Jameson, according to the Cape Town Times, will return to South Africa to carry the Rhodes transcontinental wire to Lake Tanganyika.

The Duchess of York was married July 6, 1893. June 23, 1894; December 14, 1895, and April 25, 1897, are the dates of the births of her three children.

Miss Mary Isabella Potter, who was ordained as an Episcopal deaconess in New Haven recently, is the first woman to take orders in the diocese of Connecticut.

A movement is on foot to erect a monument to Henri Vieuxtemps, the famous Belgian violinist. The monument will be erected at Verviers, the birthplace of the musician.

Gov. Robert L. Taylor, of Tennessee, who, it is said, will resign, achieved notoriety during his candidacy by playing a violin, while making speeches. He now says he is "tired of the ingratitude of politics."

Senator Wellington, of Maryland, interests himself while the senate is in session in looking over newspaper clippings about himself. He subscribes to a news-clippings bureau and reads everything that is said about himself with a great deal of interest.

HINTS TO HOUSEKEEPERS.

Much coal is wasted by keeping draught on unnecessarily.

Sterilized milk is safer for infants than is milk simply warmed.

All cold vegetables left over should be saved for future use in soups or salads.

People of small means can live well, if care is taken that there is no waste in the kitchen.

Wealthy people spend double as much as is necessary for lack of care in domestic matters.

Cold water put into glasses or dishes from which eggs have been eaten will soften the egg and make washing easy.

A good jelly may be made from rhubarb by boiling to a pulp, straining, and after adding a pound of cut sugar to each pint of juice boiling, changing often and it will be done.

LAKE MICHIGAN ALWAYS OPEN.
How It Is Rendered Navigable All the Year Around.
Navigation on Lake Michigan is never closed. Steamers run back and forth across the lake and between the ports of the west shore of the lake during the entire winter with remarkable regularity. The first attempts at winter navigation on the translake routes were made by the Detroit & Milwaukee Railroad company and by the now defunct Engelmänn Transportation company many years ago, and the success of winter ventures became established as the character of the steamers was improved and developments were made in marine engineering. Now winter navigation proceeds almost uninterruptedly, and the new car ferries steam back and forth with little regard for weather or for ice. The success of the car ferries on Lake Michigan and the car ferry which defies winter in the Straits of Mackinac is probably the cause of the announcement that negotiations are in progress looking to the construction of ice-breaking freight steamers that will enable their owners to keep them in commission on the Lake Superior and lower lake route during the winter. The report is without foundation.

There is a vast difference between the navigation of Lake Michigan from one shore to the other, and along its west shore, and the navigation of the great lakes throughout their lengths and through the interlake channels. Ice breaking is expensive, and occasionally the ice does defy the crushing powers of the best of the so-called ice breakers. One of the car ferries was recently stalled by a floe near Menominee, which defied not only the steamer, but the explosive power of dynamite. The trouble of winter navigation on the chain of lakes would occur in the interlake channels and in the canals. Owing to the clogging effects of the ice it would be almost impossible to operate canals during midwinter.

Another and a very serious bar to general lake navigation in winter is the prevalence of snowstorms, during which nothing whatever can be seen. Snow is more obstructive to the sight than fog, and during a driving snowstorm it is impossible to see anything ahead, even in the daytime. Winter navigators on Lake Michigan, who are never out of sight of land for any great length of time, experience their chief annoyance from the snowstorms. They manage to steam into port when snow is flying thick, because of their familiarity with the route, but they occasionally get into trouble while they are wrapped in "the tumultuous privacy of the storm."

It does not follow, by any means, that because winter navigation is successful on Lake Michigan it can be made successful in the upper and lower lake service.—Milwaukee Wisconsin.

TOMMY WAS A STRATEGIST.
How He Recovered His Drumstick from the Bottom of the Well.
A little boy dropped his drumstick into a well. In vain he entreated his parents, the gardener, the footman, the coachman, the cook, the housemaids to go down into the well to recover his drumstick. In his distress, says the London Telegraph, a brilliant expedient occurred to Master Tommy—he secretly carried off all the plate from the sideboard and threw it into the well. Great was the consternation when the plate was missed, and an active search for the robbers took place. In the midst of the alarm and the confusion Master Tommy ran with the news that he had found the plate. "Where?" was the cry. "Down the well," replied Tommy. "I saw it quite plain shining at the bottom—spoons, ladles, bread baskets, salvers and all." The housemaid hurried to the well, at the bottom of which, sure enough, the plate was seen. A ladder was procured, a servant descended and the plate was brought up. Just before the last article was fished up Master Tommy whispered to him: "John, please bring up my drumstick when you go down for the soup ladle."
